Give your site a name

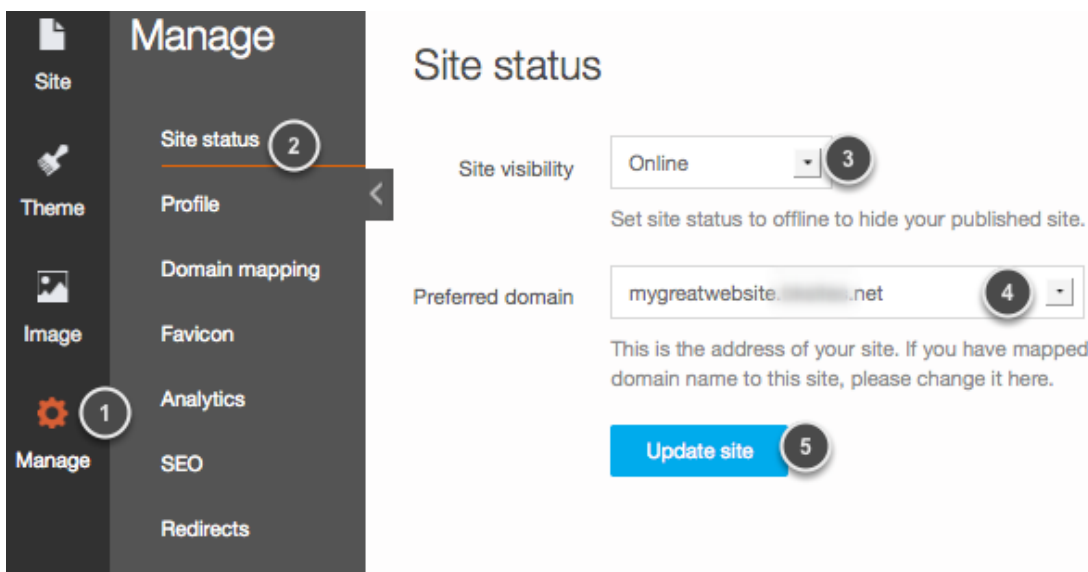

A screenshot of a dialog box titled 'Publish site'. The dialog has a dark header with a close button (X) on the right. The main content area is light gray and contains the following text: 'Before you publish your site, you need to give it a name.' followed by 'It can be any combination of letters and numbers but it makes sense to pick a name you can remember easily.' Below this is a text input field containing 'mygreatwebsite' and a dropdown menu showing '.business.net'. At the bottom right, there are two buttons: 'Cancel' and 'Publish'.

This doesn't have to be your domain name (don't add www), just something you want to call your site to distinguish it from the other sites within your account (in case you have more than one).

You can either close the message and go back to editing your site or you can click on the link Go to site to see your published site.

Site settings

If you want to change your site settings go to Manage (1) and click on Site status (2)

Site visibility (3) allows you to set your domain as online or offline whenever you want to. If you have already mapped your domain to your site, you can choose your TLD as your Preferred domain (4) (i.e. www.mygreatwebsite.com instead of mygreatwebsite.something.net).
